Duty Officer & Healthcare Emergency Coordination Center

The Northwest Healthcare Response Network (the Network) is a healthcare coalition: an affiliation of private and public partners working together to prepare for, respond to, and recover from emergencies among the healthcare organizations in our region. The Network will be a key partner in a healthcare facility's response to and recovery from our next emergency.

We provide 24/7 support through our Duty Officer, and activate our Healthcare Emergency Coordination Center (HECC) to provide a critical link among healthcare facilities, public health departments and other key government partners. Through the HECC, we coordinate information sharing to increase situational awareness and facilitate resource requests, patient tracking and informed decision making.

Healthcare organizations are encouraged to call the Network's Duty Officer or HECC to report emergency events that significantly impact facility operations, such as a utility interruption, capacity issues, critical-need resource shortage or patient evacuation.

Other partners, such as Public Health, Emergency Management, EMS and community organizations, are encouraged to call the Network's Duty Officer or HECC to notify us of an incident, or to request healthcare situational awareness or a liaison.
