

Instructions for Tot Trivia Training Tool

This exercise is designed to provide information about issues related to pediatric disaster response through team play of a scored trivia game with questions concerning mass casualty incident (MCI) triage, color-coding kids, the Pediatric Assessment Triangle and unique issues in medical management of pediatric MCI victims.

Materials:

Tot Trivia PowerPoint
Tot Trivia Scoring Sheet
Tot Trivia Facilitator Guide

Staffing:

Person to operate PowerPoint

Person to “emcee” and facilitate the game

Game procedures:

1. Participants should divide into 3 teams (A, B, C) by counting off or using another method
2. Each team should appoint a spokesperson to communicate the team's final answers
3. Decide order of play by mutual consent or selection of numbered folded slips of paper
4. Open Tot Trivia PowerPoint to “Slide Show” mode to game board slide
5. Emcee will explain how the game works as follows:
 - Team which is “up” for a question will pick a category and question value
 - Question will be displayed
 - Team will submit answer verbally within 60 seconds
 - Correct answer will be displayed; if team has answered correctly within the time limit, it will receive the points; if team answers incorrectly, it gains no points
 - Next team in line will choose a category and questions value, etc.
 - Each team will choose 10 questions during the game
 - Daily Double questions:
 - Question is worth double points, if answered correctly
 - Question points will be subtracted from team score, if answered incorrectly
 - Bonus question: All 3 teams will have opportunity to answer this question
 - Teams with correct answers will receive extra 5000 points
 - Team with highest score is the winner
6. Note: game procedure could be modified to allow more competition, but players will need to allow more time for play. In addition, it will require a mechanism for each team to indicate first chance at answering question and second chance, if first responders' answer is incorrect, similar to the buzzer on the well-known television game show.
